Specialized Knowledge & Experience:

In the box below, list any knowledge and/or experience you have in addition to this application. This may be in regard to specialized software (Excel, Quickbooks, etc.); creative, business, or military experience; or any knowledge that you think will be of value to the tutoring center.

Please read the following department policies and bring any questions you may have to your interview:

1. Every semester, you will be asked to submit an availability form. You will list any hours you are available to work for the Tutoring Resource Center, which location you prefer (or will best accommodate your course schedule), faculty preferences, and any additional courses you would like to be approved to tutor. The TRC Director will then create your schedule and send it to you via email. The email may include special instructions for which you are responsible and must complete. Upon receipt of your schedule, please respond confirming that you can work the posed hours, or respond with necessary changes. After you have confirmed your schedule, you may begin working.
2. Previous to the start of the semester, you will be assigned a new schedule for the entire semester. Because your availability may change after session A (the first eight weeks of the semester), your work schedule may also differ to accommodate your course schedule.
3. You must complete tier one tutor training before you may begin working. Trainings are mandatory and must be completed every semester. Days and times will be planned before each semester and you will be paid for attending.
4. You will be added to the Tutor Training Canvas course, so you can access various training documents and videos as needed. You will also have access to the department manual, useful handouts, and many other resources to share with students with whom you work. Take some time when you are not working with students to browse the resources available to you. This will save you time when you are working with a student.
5. When you graduate, you are welcome to continue working as a tutor. Your status will change from a peer tutor to a professional tutor and your pay will increase.
6. Please feel free to ask questions as they arise. Although our training program is thorough, it is impossible to prepare you for every situation you will address as a tutor. It is important to discuss challenges you face, to recognize what you do well and to reflect on how you can improve.
7. As a student, you are not expected to be a content area expert. When you work with students, you will learn and grow as a student and professional, while facilitating their learning. If you are asked to help a student on something you do not remember, please ask one of your teammates for support or contact the student's faculty member for clarification. You are modeling for the student that is acceptable to ask for help and how to do it.
